

Race

Looks like nothing else. Works like nothing else.

This is different. Race builds on an off-modular, stackable spine-wall that's strong and stable, incorporating a design that's bold, yet refreshingly uncomplicated. Race rules in fast-paced environments that demand a great deal of easily accessible power and data at the worksurface, all wrapped in a look that pushes the envelope.

Race

RACE is ready when you are, no matter what the situation. With the simplicity of a panel system and the versatility of an open environment, it installs and reconfigures easily to meet any space requirement. And with its unrivaled aesthetic, intelligent product selection and just 13 basic components, RACE provides custom capability without custom time and expense.

The expanded cable capacity of RACE brings almost unlimited power and data access to the workplace. You choose floor, ceiling or wall in-feeds. Cables lay in quickly and easily through dedicated chambers allowing complete separation of voice/data from power in the UL-rated beam. Your power and data is brought to multiple worksurface height locations so it's always right where you need it.
